

Your Sunk!

Here is a rather clever version of noughts and crosses that uses battleships, mines and submarines. A strangely simple but compelling game. A real game of skill.

To use the board

You can print out this game on card or print it on paper and then glue it to a piece of card or board. If you want to save it from wear, you can protect it with a light coat of acrylic varnish. .

Cutting out the Pieces

Please take care cutting out the pieces. For safety sake, children should only be allowed to do this under adult supervision.

The Rules

This is a game for two players, and the pieces are divided up so that each has 2 Battleship, 2 Submarines & 2 Mines. The players take it in turn to lay down one-piece at a time on any of the unoccupied squares on the board, and the winner is the player who can put down one of his pieces so as to complete a row of three pieces in a line consisting of a Battleship in between a Submarine and a Mine— as he succeeds in doing so he exclaims, "You're Sunk!" The row may be made either across, up and down or diagonally and it does not matter which of the players put down the other two pieces in the row. If it is your turn to play it is quite in order to prevent your opponent from completing a row on his next move by blocking an opening with one of your pieces even though it does not complete a winning row. The pieces may not be moved once they have been placed on the board.
